Tutoring Experience

For 15 years, I've supported students in mastering IGCSE and A-Level Physics, helping them navigate challenging concepts in mechanics, thermodynamics, and electromagnetism. My experience spans both in-person and online settings, allowing me to connect with students across different educational backgrounds.

My extensive tutoring background includes guiding students from the Netherlands, the UK, and internationally, ensuring they achieve high results in their exams. I bring a deep knowledge of multiple curriculums, including AP and GCSE, enabling students to build a solid foundation in physics, preparing them for advanced studies and scientific careers.
