Tutoring Experience

For the past decade, I've worked with students from diverse educational systems, teaching IGCSE English Language, IB English Literature, and A-Level English. My experience includes supporting learners in mastering key texts, refining their analytical skills, and preparing for university applications.

In addition to one-on-one tutoring, I've served as a seminar leader for undergraduate literature courses, where I focused on fostering critical thinking and effective communication. Whether guiding students through exam preparation or advanced literary analysis, my priority is ensuring they feel confident in their abilities to excel academically.
